

Pope Reverend Water-Nymph Nocturnal Of The Church of Discordia

*Papal Brief #24: Ben Tebahlihs Seh Macarena
(Which is anything but brief.)*

There is a realm, it is not Hell nor Limbo nor The Region of Thud. Limbo and Hell are just silly notions, and the region of Thud is far too bad a place to go just for being a Cabbage. No, instead, there is the realm of Macarena.

Macarena is a place where people go to think things over, look at their last lifetime and see where they want to go and what they want to do when they reincarnate. One function of Macarena is as a review of how one's actions affected other people, both good and bad. This could be called a punishment, but the soul does it willingly. This is because when it's free of the Earth-bound ego, the soul is usually much wiser.

Everyone goes to Macarena when they die. Really nice people only spend a subjective month or two there, maybe as much as half a subjective year. People who were not so nice spend greater amounts of time in Macarena, how long depends on the offenses and their feelings about it prior to death. For example, an unrepentant spammer may get more time in Macarena than a remorseful murderer. Or maybe not. I dunno.

Time is subjective in Macarena, as it is in all realms beyond Death. So by our reckoning on the mortal coil, Adolf Hitler may already have learned his lessons and reincarnated, possibly as a lesbian woman in Nigeria (to get a feel for the other side of the coin, so to speak). But subjectively, he might have been in Macarena for what was – for him – 1000 years for all we know. This is what is meant by subjective time when speaking of Macarena.

You can bet your entire Fall wardrobe, though, that people who spread hatred and fear in their lifetime may need to spend subjective years, even decades or centuries, in Macarena. Then they probably reincarnate as the people they spread hate and fear of. Yes, Pat Robertson, you will probably be coming back as a gay man. Or a lesbian. Or – Gods forbid – a liberal! And the people who run PervertedJustice.com will doubtless come back in the next life as an innocent victim of their illegal operation. Or maybe even as a less-than-innocent victim of their illegal operation.

Yes, George W. Bush, you and your cronies will most likely be spending a long time in Macarena and then come back as someone you hate in this lifetime. As will Pope Benedict what's-his-number, and any other clergy of any religion if that individual is spreading hateful rhetoric, especially if it is in the name of God or Jesus. For God/dess really does not like hateful people. S/he does not like sanctimonious, judgmental, egotistical, pompous asses. S/he does NOT endorse any one religion. Do you think if S/he cared a whit about religion that S/he would let things be as they are? If any of us had it Right and God wanted that way to be the way everyone went, God would make darned sure it was the only option available.

Yes, you who has been drawn into the lies of the establishment, even you will go to Macarena. But don't worry, you won't be there long. It's not your fault. Only those whose hearts cannot have enough power over others will be going there for long. Only those whose hearts are full of hatred will be going to Macarena for long.

If you have ever thought of a person as inhuman for any “crime” (either real or imagined), you will be going to Macarena for a long time. The small of mind and small of heart, the people who care only for themselves, those who give power to hatred and take away power from love... all these will go to Macarena for as long as is needed to heal the wounds that made them that way to begin with.

I end this brief on a positive note. That Macarena and other things exist to ensure that no one gets it wrong, ultimately. Ultimately, no one loses. It is not possible to fail. If you need to go to Macarena for an extended period of time, it is not a punishment. It is not the act of a spiteful God. It is a gentle God/dess taking you aside to counsel your sorrowful soul about the things it did when it forgot who and what it was. Macarena is simply after-life therapy from a qualified and compassionate therapist, God/dess Himself. It is therapy for the post-traumatic stress that occurs after any life. Some just need more therapy than others, that is not a bad thing.
