FRESH SQUEEZED NEWS! YOGAP MAKES COMEBACK!

Rota Rooters – Osceola, Iowa

By Lord Smashed Outtahis Gourd

In a startling development today, the newspaper that went under like a sperm whale made of lead when the website it was on got eaten by a boojum, has made a comeback. Yes, Ye Olde Goldyn Apple Presse is back!

Illustration 1: Artist's rendering of the editor

“Well we lost all the previous issues,” said the editor. “That’ll teach me to keep backups next time. So we’ve got to start from scratch, you see. New logo, new header, all new shit. Luckily, we have Open Office, which can save things in PDF format.”

Yes, but what of the news?

“Oh, it’ll be splendid,” she said. “All new stories, all new sections. We have an Interesting People section now...

WEATHER FORECAST

Tomorrow will be dreary and overcast, with a 60% chance of Angsty Emos sweeping through like mist. Make sure to wear an umbrella vetted for mascara-laden tears.

Tuesday will be bright and sunny, with a 40% chance of tourists. Make sure to carry myriad pictures of your cat.

On Wednesday, the cool front hanging over Canada will sweep down, causing a liberal fog and bringing with it a 70% chance of free health care, gay rights, and polygamous marriages. Republicans and people with a weak heart are cautioned to remain indoors.

That cool front will be blown back into Canada by the collective blowing of all the Republicans, and so by Thursday the usual dreary incompetence of the government will have returned. This is a good time to water your Bush.

Friday’s beer fumes will waft into a neighboring country. On Saturday and they will demand all our liquor and our women. The President will send them liquor, but will send them all our gay men instead of our straight women. This will not please them. We will be pwnd! All our base are belong to them!

INTERESTING PEOPLE AROUND THE WORLD

Location: Britain

By Mrs. Appleberry Crunch Cereal

Mr. Henry Pillock of Pillington's Cross has a unique talent – he can eat as many mosquitos in one day as the average bat can. Mr. Pillock, 32, has lately been selling his time to anyone with a mosquito problem, and seems to be making a fairly good living from it.

When asked how he discovered his interesting talent, Mr. Pillock says, "Well, I was out one day riding my motorcycle and talking on my cell phone, when I accidentally swallowed a swarm of mosquitos. Once I got over the initial shock of having done this, I was quite surprised to find I liked the taste of them. I started experimenting with eating mosquitos on purpose.

"Eventually, I found I liked the tasty little buggers so much that I trained myself to eat as many as I could, until I found I was eating as many mosquitos in one day as the average bat could."

And what got you on the notion of doing this for a living?

"Well, my ex-wife got me on the idea, really. It was the day she demanded a divorce, in fact. Said she didn't want to be married to a bug-muncher, and that if she had she would've married a bat. I countered that it was, in fact, I who had married a bat. At which point she said that if she were a bat, she would at least make a career of eating bugs instead of being a lazy no-good layabout.

"And now I'm only a couple months away from being a millionaire. I'll bet she regrets divorcing me now!"

There you have it, folks: Henry Pillock of Pillington's Cross. For only twenty quid per hour he'll rid you of all your mosquitos. And his company, Henry Pillock's Bug Eating Service, is currently training other bug-eaters. Positions not currently being trained for, due to vacancies, are as follows: Fly eater, wasp eater, ant eater, and hornet eater. If you are interested in using Mr. Pillock's services or in getting a job with his company, please call 1-800-4PIL-LOCK

CRIME REPORT

New York, NY – Mr. Ralph Squatwick, 43, was arrested by Homeland Security on Saturday under suspicion of being a terrorist. Police became suspicious of Mr. Squatwick's activities as he loitered on one of the subway platforms. They called Homeland Security, and the man was quickly arrested. He was not formally charged until he reportedly assaulted an officer. According to the official report, when he was being interrogated, Mr. Squatwick kept laughing like an idiot at everything they asked him, and he reportedly squirted one officer in the face with a plastic flower and honked his red nose like a trumpet. He is currently being detained in Guantanamo Bay.

Portland, OR – Authorities in Portland yesterday said that a 32-car pileup that injured 23 people was a racially motivated. Witnesses to the events leading up to the wreck witnessed three white Ford Escorts ganging up on a black Pontiac Sunbird, after the Sunbird reportedly whistled at the Fords' sister. The four cars got into an argument that quickly grew violent. The white cars survived with minor injuries, but the black car is listed as being in critical condition. Already, the mechanics don't know if they can get enough oil into the wounded car. A part they need to fix it has to be shipped in from Tokyo. If the black car dies from his wounds, the three Ford Escorts could face murder charges.

Washington, D.C. - The White House was thrown into chaos today when a Senator Palpatine (Rep., Alabama) attempted to assassinate the President. During the struggle, Sen. Palpatine's mask was ripped off, revealing him to be none other than Vice President Dick Cheney. Mr. Cheney attempted to flee, but Homeland Security officers took him into custody. While being interrogated, the only thing Mr. Cheney would say was to constantly repeat the Sith Code over and over again. No word yet from the National Association of Jedi Knights of America.

...which is being written by a lovely new writer we have, a Mrs. Appleberry Crunch Cereal of the British Pepperpots' Association."

"We have also added a crime report page and a science news column. I am also pleased to say that our opinion writer, Mr. Jesus H. Christ (who was writing under an assumed name since he had apparently caught amnesia), will once again be taking up the opinion column he had in the last set of YOGAPs. He has recovered his whole memory now, and will be back to work once his head injury heals."

Well there you have it, folks. The return of Ye Olde Goldyn Apple Presse. Enjoy!

SCIENCE NEWS

London, U.K. - Scientists in London today released the results of a study that suggests that religious extremism and religious fundamentalism are caused by a defective gene on the 23rd chromosome. The study also concludes that this gene causes a major deficiency in brain cell count and slows down the ability of brain cells to form neural pathways. Reverend I.M. Shithed of the First Christian Church of Gay Jesus expressed outrage at this study, insisting that "being a religious extremist is a sinful lifestyle, not something one is born with."

Brightvale, Neopia – Neopian scientists in Brightvale yesterday successfully opened a wormhole into our universe, to the delight of children and bored adolescents worldwide. The wormhole, which appeared over Times Square, was reportedly opened so the Neopian scientists could buy porn, something which does not exist in Neopia. No word yet on whether or not the porn stores will accept NeoPoints for payment. Gamers around the world are already seeking out the makers of the wormhole, hoping to open wormholes into worlds more interesting than this one.

Des Moines, Iowa – Scientists in Des Moines released a study last Wednesday which suggests that Iowa is, indeed, the single most boring place in the world. This comes as no surprise to its residents, who have been saying this for years. The study cost $1.8 kajillion dollars, and took 12 years to complete.

Lima, Peru – Bioengineers in Lima yesterday announced that they have invented a new kind of worm that can crawl up people's anuses and eat their feces. The new creatures then come back out of the anus and their own poo is a magnifiscent fertilizer. The Peruvian government would not tell us all of the "ingredients" of this new animal, but did mention that the creatures have DNA from both earthworms and tapeworms. It is called the Enema Worm. Scientific name enemas Wormus. Michael Jackson has already pre-ordered twelve cases of them.

Quebec, Canada – A new study released today proves that being an Emo is bad for your health. It seems being an Emo Goth is even worse for you, Emo Goths having a life expectancy of half that of a non-Emo Goth.

RELIGIOUS NEWS

Vatican City, Italy – Followers of the First Christian Church of Gay Jesus, who believe that Jesus Christ was a closet homosexual in his lifetime and used his work with “lepers” to hide his true homosexual agenda, conquered the Vatican last Monday and tried to force the Catholic Pope to declare, ex Cathedra, that homosexuality was as valid a lifestyle as the straight lifestyle. Pope Ratzinger argued, saying he would only do so if he could also say the same of pederasty. It was at that time that Vatican police burst in and started beating the living shit out of the protestors. Mr. Christ, in an exclusive interview with YOGAP, revealed that he thought that the protestors were completely wrong. “I’m not gay,” he said, “But I am – and always have been – a bisexual. And I was polyamorous. I’ll make you guess who my male lovers were, though.”

Witchita, Kansas – A Hellenistic Reconstructionist group in Kansas is demanding that the Kansas Board of Education force Kansas schools to teach the Hellenistic creation story as an alternative to the theory of evolution. The ACLU has already gotten involved, supporting the Hellenists. A spokesperson for the ACLU said “If the Christian creation story can be taught as an alternative to evolution, so can other creation stories. The Hellenistic, or ancient Greek, creation story makes as much sense as the Christian version.”

Jerusalem, Israel – Authorities were baffled over the weekend by a series of disappearances in one of the more obscure parts of the city, until they sent Indiana Jones in to investigate. Turns out, the Ark of the Covenant was buried there, and some terrorists trying to create secret tunnels leading into the city discovered it and were killed. It turns out that the Ark was in fact an alien relic, a highly radioactive piece of a starship’s power core. The Shadow Government has already taken posession of the Ark and covered the whole thing up as a stray weather balloon.

CELEBRITY NEWS

Former child star Teddy Ruxbin checked himself into rehab last night for addiction to heroin and crack cocaine after a party with Paris Hilton. “Man,” he said over the phone, “I just saw how fucking wasted and fucked up she was, dude, and I thought, ‘Man, I don’t wanna look that bad.’ So I checked myself into rehab an hour later.”

After several thousand years of waiting, king of the Gods Zeusy Baby (AKA Jupiter) threw another shindig on Mount Olympus. Of course, we all remember the last time he threw a party. Seeming to remember that disastrous event which sparked the Trojan War, Zeus invited everyone – including chaos Goddess Eris – to join the festivities. Unfortunately, Eris was vacationing in the Bahamas at the time and could not make it, but She sent Her pet Cerberus over in Her stead. Suffice it to say, Zeus is not planning on throwing any more parties.

Gay British rap star Pouf Daddy was injured by a flying steel dildo while walking along Charing Cross Road last Wednesday. He is being treated in his mansion’s built-in hospital, where he is listed as being in stable condition. He is expected to make a full recovery in time for his next tour, “Coming Out of the Wardrobe.”

Long-lost wise man and immortal Jesus Horatio Christ has recently been rediscovered. He had lost his memory after being burned as a witch in Germany, and was living in Iowa as a YOGAP opinion columnist, Reverend Snickerdoodle Doo. Two weeks ago, after years of angst over people being enraged by his similarity in appearance to Jesus Christ, Mr. Snickerdoodle Doo committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Upon awakening, Reverend Snickerdoodle Doo suddenly remembered everything, realizing he was really Jesus H. Christ. He will be returning to work next week.

OPINION COLUMN

This week by = Bishop Sanctimonious the Hypocritical, a Satanic Discordian

Next week by = Jesus Horatio Christ

A very wise person once said, "It's a shame stupidity isn't painful." Of course, if it was, then 98% of the human population would have stupidity-induced fibromyalgia.

It's bad enough when people try to push a door that has to be pulled, or pull a door that has to be pushed. But when there are several doors side-by-side, they all have to be pulled, other people at the other doors are doing it properly, and one lone idiot is stubbornly pushing at the door trying to figure out why she can't open it, well, you have to wonder about whether or not the human race will survive. It certainly isn't looking good for us.

Look at America, for instance. We started out as a high-minded experiment in freedom, and have been slowly but surely making leaps forward in basic human rights and civil liberties. Or we were, until the Presidency was illegally stolen by George W. Bush. Now we're under the oppressive thumb of the Patriot Act, with a President who is staunchly anti-freedom and anti-America. He says the same pretty words, but his actions say quite plainly that he cares more about avenging his daddy's honor and getting high on power than about the American people. And if stupidity were painful, that man would have died from shock ages ago.

No, stupidity is a disease. A genetic disease. And I'm not talking about mentally challenged people... I'm talking about people who would be smart if they would use their brain and feed it. People who would be smart if they dared to think for themselves. You can tell who these people are easily enough... they're the kind of people who need a sign to tell them whether a door opens by pushing or pulling. A reasonable person, upon pushing a door and finding it remaining closed, would pull first to see if that works, and only if it fails to push on a door, finding it not opening, and immediately trying another door. I even saw someone push all three doors to no avail, never once trying to pull any of them. He promptly turned around and looked for someone to tell him how to escape the building.

If you work at a place that has signs that tell people whether to push or pull, try changing the sign. If the sign says pull, change it to push. Watch what happens. The people with any sense will either ignore your fake sign and pull on the door, or will push once, find that's wrong, and pull it.

The idiots, however, will see the sign and – no matter how crude it is – will assume it to be true. They will push and push and push, not being able to comprehend why they cannot open the door. This is because they do not like to think for themselves. If there is even one other person around, they will seek that person's help. If there is not, they will give up in frustration, and send an angry letter to the company.

I could write a book about human stupidity, and maybe I will, but in the meantime, I want to get to the point of this column. And that is this: I think stupid people should not be allowed to breed.

I am completely serious about this. There is far too much shit and piss in the gene pool from the stupid sheep-like minds who refuse to think for themselves. We need to get rid of the genetic disease of stupidity.

We'll set up a test. Not an IQ test, but a test to determine if a person has any sense. Sense being, of course, the ability to think for oneself. Sense being the capacity for critical thinking. Because it doesn't matter how ignorant a person is, what makes a person stupid is that they refuse to think for themselves... what makes a person stupid is that they have no sense. Note that I do NOT call it "common sense," because it has never, in the whole history of humanity, ever been common.

The test will also, of course, test for compassion and empathy. I once heard that the clinical definition of a psychopath is "someone who cares only for themselves, and cannot connect with others on an emotional level." I believe this to be because they have a deficiency of mirror neurons. But the point is, only a small percentage of psychopaths go crazy and become serial killers or even criminals. Most you can't tell from ordinary people except that they are often called assholes or heartless or power-hungry. So of course, aside from having sense, the test will also screen out psychopaths.

This test will be set up by a panel of people who specialize in human behavior. Then the first people to take this test will be the people who made it. If they pass their own test, we will begin administering it to everyone.

We'll start with politicians, clergy, business execs, and other powerful people. Anyone found to have no sense will not only be fired from their powerful positions and banned from breeding, they will also be banned from raising children. We implement this test, and we'll have a whole new government in a few months, run by people who have critical thinking skills and compassion and empathy. But most importantly, they will be free-thinkers.

Give it a few hundred years or so, and we could really improve humanity! Imagine a world with no idiots... ah. I'm going to go now, and fantasize about that possibility.

SPORTS NEWS

Today was declared to be open season on hunters. Now all you people who enjoy killing helpless animals can go for something a bit more challenging – thy fellow hunter.

The semi-finals for the World Sexual Stamina Competition started last night. Canada took an early lead, with Australia and Belgium trailing at 2nd and 3rd. America wasn't ready and barely scraped 4th place. And Britain just sat in the corner, watching the proceedings and wanking off. China's contestant was disqualified when it was discovered that he was taking steroids, Viagra, copious amounts of Rockstar Energy Drinks, and methamphetamines. He had also had penis enhancement surgery.

I'm bored now.

In NASCAR news today, a bunch of crazies drove around and around all day long. I'm surprised none of them fell asleep at the wheel.

A bunch of closet homosexuals in macho costumes today tossed their balls around and patted each other on the ass. I don't remember which sport it was: take your pick. When asked the date and time of their polyamorous gay marriage, they snapped the reporter with a wet towel. I barely escaped being ass-raped. Hey, that rhymes!
